About the Author

Barbara Frank has been homeschooling for nearly 20 years; she has four children, ages 16-25. Mrs. Frank originally designed Life Prep for Homeschooled Teenagers for her oldest two children, who are now living on their own. She believes that teaching teenagers about moral, financial and ethical issues is just as important to their future as teaching them traditional high school subjects such as Advanced Math and World Literature.

Mrs. Frank is a freelance writer/editor and former newspaper reporter whose recent work has appeared in Focus on the Family Magazine and The Old Schoolhouse Magazine. She has a B.S. in Journalism from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

About the Book

Life Prep for Homeschooled Teenagers is a parent-friendly curriculum for teaching your teenagers how to live as morally and financially responsible adults. It includes instructions for customizing the curriculum for all homeschooled teenagers, whether they are work-bound or college-bound.

Step-by-step projects (requiring minimal preparation by the parent) teach your teenagers about credit, insurance, taxes and many other subjects they'll face once they're on their own. Reading and writing assignments review the principles your teenagers need to get along with family, friends and coworkers, and to live their values in their personal and work lives. This book is a compilation of all the practical things you wish you'd been taught in high school. Now you can make sure your teenagers are ready for life "out of the nest."

About the Book

The Imperfect Homeschooler's Guide to Homeschooling is packed full of Mrs. Frank's advice gleaned from over 20 years of homeschooling her four children, including one who has Down syndrome.

As an eBook, it won rave reviews since it was published last year. Now, Cardamom Publishers has expanded the book, doubling it in size, and bringing it out in a perfect-bound edition. Readers will learn how they can:

- Get past the "public school" way of thinking by customizing lessons for each child.
- Boost their self-confidence by learning how to measure what their children have learned.
- Reduce their stress level with "115 Organizing Tips for Homeschoolers."
- Free themselves of attitudes and habits that make homeschooling harder than it has to be.

The Imperfect Homeschooler's Guide to Homeschooling will encourage current and prospective homeschooling parents alike.
